Dow Futures	9956	9967	-11.0	-0.11%	US: U.S. stocks fell, sending the Dow Jones Industrial Average below 10,000 for the first time in seven weeks, as concern about Spain's fiscal stability and a slowdown in manufacturing wiped out early gains triggered by a drop in jobless claims.
Nasdaq	2119	2142	-22.9	-1.07%	Asia: Asian stocks fell, set for their third weekly decline, as materials and technology stocks retreated ahead of revisions to U.S. economic growth figures, and as the yen continued to rise against all major counterparts. The MSCI Asia Pacific Index fell 0.2 percent to 116.30 at 10:14 a.m. in Tokyo. Japan's Nikkei 225 Stock Average sank 0.6 percent as the yen rose versus all 16 of its major counterparts.
FTSE	5156	5109	46.4	0.91%	Indian: Equities ended lackluster session with modest gains as traders settled positions on the last day of August F&O series. Nikkei	8829	8906	-77.4	-0.87%	Economy: Applications for jobless benefits fell more than forecast last week, easing concern American employers are again slashing payrolls as the economy slows. The average number of claims over the past month climbed to the highest level since November even as the latest reading provided some relief to the drumbeat of negative economic data in recent weeks.
Hang Seng	20574	20612	-38.1	-0.18%	Currency: The rupee strengthened the most in a week on speculation exporters sold dollars to take advantage of the currency's decline on Wednesday to its lowest level in a month. The currency rose after exchange data on Wednesday showed foreign investment in stocks increased 17.5% this year to a record $85.5 billion as of August 24.
SGX CNX Nifty	5460	5473	-12.5	-0.23%	Commodity: Oil prices extended gains above $73 a barrel on Thursday as regional stock markets advanced, the US dollar softened and recent sharp losses in crude attracted more buyers. Gold rose to its strongest in eight weeks on Thursday as the dollar slipped against the euro, with worries that the U.S. economic recovery was stalling likely to drive the metal to new highs. Silver rose to its highest in nearly two months as its cheaper price versus other precious metals attracted bargain buying.

NTPC to offer stakes to gas suppliers

NTPC will offer gas producers stakes in its power projects to ensure long-term fuel supply, a clear departure from its earlier strategy of buying equity in gas assets abroad. The state-run power producer has offered up to 20% equity to Qatar Petroleum in its gas-based projects at Kayamkulam in Kerala and Ratnagiri Gas and Power in Maharashtra. The two power projects on the west coast of India depend on imported liquefied natural gas (LNG) for fuel requirements. (ET)

PFC is in the process of appointing a consultant for the same. We have formed a committee to examine the issue of banking entry...we may apply for the banking license in joint venture with a foreign firm," an REC official said confirming that the company is keen to make a banking foray. Jet Airways seeks RBI nod to raise forex loan

Jet Airways Ltd, the country's largest private carrier by sales, has approached RBI to raise $750 million via external commercial borrowings to repay debt, officials said. The funds will be used to largely repay existing Indian rupee debt, which is at a high cost, Jet officials said on the sidelines of its annual general meeting of shareholders. Currently funds raised via ECBs cannot be used to repay Indian rupee debt. Jet's current debt stands at around 145 billion rupees. Jet has been looking to raise $400 million via a share sale to foreign institutions and has sought regulatory approval for an equity dilution of up to 20 per cent, Chairman Naresh Goyal said. (ET)

Export curbs on cotton yarn likely to go

The Centre may remove restrictions on export of surplus cotton yarn produced in the country that is over and above the quantity required by the domestic textile industry, a senior government official has said. The proposed move could be a compromise solution to meet the interests of both the textile industry that wants raw material at reasonable prices and cotton producers and traders who want to sell in the more lucrative international market. INTERNATIONAL
U.S. Jobless Claims Decline More Than Forecast

Applications for jobless benefits fell more than forecast last week, easing concern American employers are again slashing payrolls as the economy slows. Claims dropped by 31,000, the first decline in a month, to 473,000 in the week ended Aug. 21, Labor Department figures showed. The total number of people receiving government payments exceeded 10 million for the first time in four months, reflecting an increase in those getting extended benefits. (Bloomberg)

Japan's Consumer Prices Slide, Adding to Risk of Slower Growth

Japan's consumer prices fell for a 17th month and household spending rose less than forecast, driving stocks lower on concern that the nation's economic recovery is faltering. Consumer prices excluding fresh food declined 1.1 percent in July from a year earlier, the statistics bureau said. Household spending rose 1.1 percent, lower than economists' estimates for a 1.5 percent gain. The unemployment rate fell for the first time in six months, a separate report showed. The Nikkei 225 Stock Average dropped as the data added to evidence that a strengthening in the yen to near a 15-year high is deepening deflation. (Bloomberg)

South Korea Current Account Surplus Reaches 16-Month High on Won Weakness

South Korea's current-account surplus reached a 16-month high after weakness in the won and the global recovery bolstered the nation's exports. The surplus of $5.88 billion in July, from a revised $5.10 billion in June, was the biggest since March 2009, the Bank of Korea said in a statement. The current account is the broadest measure of international trade, tracking goods, services and investment income. (Bloomberg)

Unemployment Rate Unexpectedly Falls to 5.2% as Japan Economy Adds Jobs

Japan's unemployment rate unexpectedly fell for the first time in six months in July as the economy added more jobs. The jobless rate dropped to 5.2 percent, the statistics bureau said. The improvement in the unemployment rate may be a welcome development for Prime Minister Naoto Kan, who is trying to bolster growth with fresh stimulus measures to protect the economy from the yen's surge to a 15-year high against the dollar. Slower global demand puts more pressure on consumers to increase spending to support the economic recovery. (Bloomberg)
