3. Statement of Policy

Most developed countries (including Australia, Hong Kong, Singapore, Taiwan and the UK) have laws making it a criminal offence for a company or an individual to assist in the laundering of the proceeds of serious crime.

The company conducts its business in conformity with all laws and regulations of the jurisdictions in which it transacts business. In order to ensure that the company meets its legal obligations, employees of Nirmal Bang Commodities Pvt. Ltd. must be mindful of the problem of money laundering and constantly vigilant for signs of such activity. Every effort must be made to "know" and verify the identity of the company's customers, to be aware at all times of what might constitute a suspicious transaction or suspicious counterparty behaviour, to adhere to appropriate account opening and record-keeping procedures, and to observe companies procedure for reporting suspicious circumstances to Management, Compliance and the relevant authorities.

Recognizing and combating money laundering: "Know Your Customer". The types of transactions which may be used by a money launderer are almost unlimited, making it difficult to define a suspicious transaction. It is, however, reasonable to question a transaction which may be inconsistent with an investor's known, legitimate business or personal activities or with the normal business for that type of investor. Hence, the first key to recognition is to "know your customer".

Employees should be sensitive to potential warning signs of money laundering.

When establishing a relationship, maintaining a relationship or providing services, especially when dealing with a client.

Infrequently, all reasonable steps must be taken to determine, to verify where necessary, and to remain apprised of the identity, financial position and business objectives of the client. Client identification must be carried out before any dealing takes place and the company's account opening form must be completed and processed for every new account.

4. What is Money Laundering?

Money Laundering may be defined as cleansing of dirty money obtained from legitimate or illegitimate activities including drug trafficking, terrorism, organized crime, fraud and many other crimes with the objective of hiding its source and rendering it in legally usable form. It is any act or attempted act to conceal or disguise the identity of illegally obtained proceeds so that they appear to have originated from legitimate sources. The process of money laundering involves creating a web of financial transactions so as to hide the origin of and true nature of these funds.

This is done in three phases – Placement Phase, Layering Phase & Integration Phase.

The first stage in the process is placement. The placement stage involves the physical movement of currency or other funds derived from illegal activities to a place or into a form that is less suspicious to law enforcement authorities and more convenient to the criminal. The proceeds are introduced into traditional or non-traditional financial institutions or into the retail economy. The second stage is layering. The layering stage involves the separation of proceeds from their illegal source by using multiple complex financial transactions (e.g., wire transfers, monetary instruments) to obscure the audit trail and hide the proceeds. The third stage in the money laundering process is integration. During the integration stage, illegal proceeds are converted into apparently legitimate business earnings through normal financial or commercial operations. Having identified these stages money laundering process, financial institutions are required to adopt procedures to guard against and report suspicious transactions that occur in any stage.

5. Financial Intelligence Unit (FIU) – INDIA

The government of India set up Financial Intelligence Unit (FIU-INDIA) on November 18, 2004 as an independent body to report directly to the Economic Intelligence Council (EIC) headed by the Finance Minister. FIU-INDIA has been established as the central national agency responsible for receiving, processing, analysing and disseminating information relating to suspect financial transactions. FIU-IND is also responsible for coordination and stretching efforts of national and international intelligence and enforcement agencies in pursuing the global efforts against money laundering and related crimes.
